

METAMORPHOSIS

Here are the four stages in the development of a typical butterfly. Whatever is inside the egg changes into a caterpillar. The caterpillar then forms itself into a pupa. What comes out is as dramatically different as the caterpillar which comes out of the egg laid by the butterfly! (The egg has been scaled up for shape clarification.)

