

PILTDOWN MAN

Piltdown Man was accepted as the great "missing link" for 40 years until finally exposed as a fraud. Parts of a chimpanzee jaw and teeth had been carefully altered, and then combined with doctored parts of a human skull. Only a very few bones were used, to enable the fabricators to "reconstruct" the skull in the shape of an "ancestral man."

